

Jewish Community Council of Victoria condemns anti- Muslim political views

1 May 2019

The Jewish Community Council of Victoria (JCCV) condemns the views of the former Liberal candidate for the Melbourne seat of Isaacs for his disgraceful anti-Muslim comments.

The JCCV welcomes today's decision by the Liberal Party to dis-endorse Jeremy Hearn after his anti-Muslim views were brought to public attention.

The JCCV reaffirms its non-partisan status. However the JCCV President, Jennifer Huppert, said: "As a non-partisan organisation the Jewish Community Council of Victoria will condemn any candidate from any political party who engages in religious or racial vilification. We stand in solidarity with the Muslim community and all other faith communities in condemning hate speech in all its forms. We reaffirm our support for a diverse, tolerant, inclusive Victoria where all people from all backgrounds can live free from intimidation, harassment and hate."
